Topic: 'International Reporting'

Venue: Seminar Hall

Presidency College, August: The Centre for Media Studies, Presidency college, conducted a guest lecture on International Reporting. The guest speaker was Mr. ChidanandRajghatta, who is the present foreign opinion columnist and a United States liberal blogger for the Times of India.

The session started at 11 in the morning and went on till 1 in the afternoon. During the session, the guest speaker was talking about every international issue that directly or indirectly affects the life of everyone, be it China's strong hold in the Indian market or the capitalistic lifestyle prevalent in the USA. He went on further to talk about his personal experience as a foreign correspondent. Also, he motivated the students to go forward with their passion and pursue their career accordingly.

The entire session was very informative for students and also it cleared a lot of existing myths about the people and policies around the world. The session finally ended on a very interactive note with the students asking their queries and a vote of thanks by one of the final year students.
